Goldberg Opens Five-State Tour

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg came to the heart of the Midwest today to open a five-state administration inspection of unemployment conditions in industrial areas.

Goldberg told welcoming officials at Chicago Midway airport his mission is to "manifest the deep concern of President Kennedy and his administration with the problems of idle plants and unemployed workers and their families."

"Above all," he said, "we in the administration are conscious that unemployment is not only or primarily a statistical matter. It is a human problem affecting lives of men, women and children."

Among officials welcoming Goldberg on the first stop of his three-day tour was mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, and the Illinois state labor director, Richard W. Johnston.

Accompanying Goldberg on his trip were several congressmen from Washington and Andrew Hatcher, assistant press chief to President Kennedy.

Goldberg, 52, had Chicago, Gary, South Bend, Lansing and Detroit on his first day schedule.

The labor secretary said that with half the nation's major industrial centers now classified as depressed, meaning a jobless rate of 6 per cent or more, he wants to talk over the problem with state officials, businessmen and labor leaders, and idle workers and their families.

Before taking off to inspect key communities in an area containing about a third of the nation's total 5,385,000 idle workers, Goldberg said from all indications the situation is growing worse.

The labor secretary said he intends to explain Kennedy's $1.2 billion emergency aid program for the unemployed, along with other administration plans designed to reverse the economic slowdown and restore full employment.

A major purpose of the inspection tour, one of a planned series, is to show the degree of unemployment in large cities as contrasted with that in better-known chronic trouble spots such as West Virginia and eastern Pennsylvania.

Support for this view came in new data released by the Labor Department Thursday. It showed an employment decline of nearly 900,000 from a year ago in the nation's factories, most of them

Faces Serious Problems—

Weaver Wins Senate OK As Chief Of HHFA

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert C. Weaver has won Senate confirmation as the government's top housing administrator, but he faces two serious problems as he takes over this key post.

The Senate cleared the nomination Thursday night by voice vote after five hours of argument, putting Weaver in the highest position ever held by a Negro in the federal executive branch.

The vote had not been expected to come for about 10 days, but the Senate stayed in session late to approve Weaver under pressure from President Kennedy.

The New Yorker is expected to take the oath promptly so that he can assume command of the Housing and Home Finance Agency next week. This agency is down for almost a billion dollars in new funds in the budget now before Congress.

Weaver, 53, has been vice chairman of the New York City Housing and Redevelopment Board.

He said in a statement he was gratified by the quick Senate action.

One of the problems pressing hardest on Weaver arises from the current economic slump.

Dirksen then introduced an identical resolution and suggested that Kennedy, from the White House, might be able to use his good offices for unification.

DIRKSEN PRODS JFK TO URGE UNIFIED IRELAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, long an advocate of unification for Ireland while in the Senate, got a Republican prod Thursday to do something about it now that he is in the White House.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the GOP leader, told the Senate that over the years he and Kennedy repeatedly—but in vain—had sought to place the Senate on record as saying Northern Ireland should be included in the Republic of Ireland.

Dirksen then introduced an identical resolution and suggested that Kennedy, from the White House, might be able to use his good offices for unification.

Lincoln's Solemn Farewell To Springfield

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN

CHICAGO (AP)—A monumental journey that came to an end in Ford's Theater in Washington, D.C., began in Illinois 100 years ago Saturday.

Abraham Lincoln left Springfield that day for the nation's capital to be inaugurated 16th president of the United States.

The man who was to die by an assassin's hand never returned to Illinois.

It was not a happy moment for the solemn president-elect who was to observe his 52nd birthday the following day aboard his special train.

He was facing a foreboding future—the towering problem of preventing the nation's disintegration in Civil War. And he was leaving behind long-time friends he never would see again.

He was grave and reflective his last few days in Illinois. Interviews with his most intimate friends became more frequent. Visits by strangers were not encouraged. But they still came—by the thousands.

A steady procession of visitors passed through the Lincoln's two-story cottage at Eighth and Jackson Streets between the hours of 7 p.m. and midnight on Feb. 6, 1861. Many came to say good-bye. Others came to look.

Then, as the departure date approached, the Lincolns sold their horse, buggy and cow, leased their home and moved into the Chenery House.

At the hotel, Lincoln roped the trunks himself. On the identification cards, he wrote: "A. Lincoln, the White House, Washington, D.C." and he fastened them on the trunks.

"My friends: no one, not in my situation, can appreciate my feelings of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century, and have passed from a young to an old man. Here my children have been born, and one is buried.

"I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return, and with a task before me greater than that which rested upon Washington."

"Good-bye, Abe." Came voices from the crowd.

"Without the assistance of that was a baggage car and a special passenger car.

One by one, hundreds of old friends came up to Lincoln in the station to shake his hand and wish him well.

A path was cleared for the Lincolns from the station to their special car. Hands reached out for a last handshake.

Lincoln hadn't prepared a speech for this occasion, but on the platform of his car, he turned to his many friends, bared his head and said:

"Divine Being who ever attended him, I cannot succeed. With that assistance, I cannot fail. Trusting in Him who can go with me, and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commanding you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

Bells rang and the train carried Lincoln away with the grinding of wheels.

The train made its last Illinois stop at Tolono station.

There, the president-elect told the throng, many of whom had been up before daybreak to journey by foot or on horse to the station:

"I am leaving you on an errand of national importance, attended, as you are aware, with considerable difficulties. Let us believe, as some poet has expressed it, 'Behind the cloud the sun is still shining.' I bid you an affectionate farewell."

"Good-bye, Abe." Came voices from the crowd.

Say Lumumba Makes Escape

By ADRIAN PORTER

ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo (AP)—The Katanga government announced today that deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba and two political associates escaped Thursday night from a farmhouse where they had been kept prisoner west of Elisabethville.

A communiqué said the trio overcame and bound two sentries guarding them and fled in an auto with several rifles and enough gas to cover 60 miles.

Godefroid Munongo, the Katanga interior minister, indicated his government believed Lumumba was headed for Portuguese Angola, west of Katanga Province although his ultimate objective presumably is Stanleyville, capital of the Congo's Oriental Province, which is controlled by troops and politicians loyal to him.

The Katanga government said it had blocked all roads leading from the province.

Lumumba previously had been reported in a prison at Jadotville, 65 miles northwest of Elisabethville, to which he had been moved under heavy guard from Thysville Military Camp outside Leopoldville on Jan. 18.

But the Katanga communiqué today said he and his associates escaped from a farmhouse near Kasai, which is about 80 miles from the Angola border, on a highway leading across the frontier.

Munongo said the two other prisoners who escaped with Lumumba were Col. Joseph Okito and Maurice Mpolo.

Mpolo was youth minister in Lumumba's cabinet and Okito vice president of the Senate.

MARILYN MONROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Marilyn Monroe's stay in a psychiatric hospital is not expected to be prolonged, a spokesman for her says.

The spokesman said the film star, 34, was admitted to the Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic of New York Hospital Tuesday "for a period of rest and recuperation following a very arduous year in which she completed two films in rapid succession and in which she had to face marital problems."

"Her condition is reported as satisfactory and it is expected that her stay will not be prolonged."

Doubt Marine's Story; Body Of Wife In Trunk

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Police said today they are not completely satisfied with an ex-Marine's version of the death of his wife, whose body was found in a trunk shipped to Chicago.

Police Capt. Edwin Debolt said Edward Albrecht, 24, admitted he put the body of his wife, Ann Marita, also 24, in a trunk and shipped it to a non-existent address in the Illinois city. However, Albrecht has denied any knowledge of the slaying.

Debolt would not say what version of the slaying Albrecht gave.

It has taken a shuddering toll in financial losses, life and discomfort.

The massive volume of the snow itself—52 inches so far this season in New York—already exceeded the entire total for any winter in 39 years, with the exception of the 63 inches of 1947-48.

And in some metropolitan areas, including adjacent New Jersey, even that all-time peak already surpassed by an overwhelming 68.8 inches.

Past records also topped in Pennsylvania, where Harrisburg has sunk under a cumulative 67 inches of snow so far, more than in any other whole winter. One after another, for two months, the snows have come.

Coupled with the snow, 19 days of it in seven major downfalls during the last two months, have come relentless stretches of biting cold.

Ask 59 More U.S. Judgeships

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy joined today in asking Congress to create 59 more federal judgeships to relieve the legal logjam in the courts.

The President sent letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and to the speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., asking speedy action on an administration bill submitted to both branches by his brother, the attorney general. Robert Kennedy sent letters to the presiding officers.

Fifty more district judges and nine additional jurists on the court of appeals benches are needed, the President's letter said, "to relieve serious congestion and delays in many federal courts."

President Kennedy pointed out that no new judgeships have been created for seven years.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy made much the same point.

The bill would increase the number of Circuit Court judges in the 2nd Circuit (New York, Connecticut, Vermont) from six to nine; the 4th Circuit (Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia) from three to five; the 5th Circuit (Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, Canal Zone) from seven to nine; the 7th Circuit (Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin) from six to seven; and the 10th Circuit (Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Utah, Wyoming) from five to six.

Though President Kennedy hopes for better East-West relations, Moscow has been informed any fresh Soviet challenge will bring a swift, tough U. S. response. This administration intends to leave no doubt in the minds of the American people or other peoples, it is said, of its determination to react vigorously to any threat—and not to be bluffed or blackmailed.

Administration leaders reportedly feel that Soviet Premier Khrushchev understands their bluntly stated position and is acting with restraint. One reason, as seen here, may be his desire for an early, informal meeting with Kennedy as well as a later summit session; another may be his serious interest on his part in doing something to bring the arms race under control.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said.

Neither, in a long span of memory, had many another New Yorker. They, along with the rest of the heavily populated Northeast, have been buffeted by one of the harshest winters on record.

Albrecht was returned Thursday night from Jackson, Minn. He had been held there since his arrest three weeks ago at the home of his mother and step-father in Lakeville, Minn.

At Picou's funeral, the 10-piece band struck up bounding tunes going back to the funeral home. The gay music drew people from nearby houses, stores, street corners. A pied piper army of old and young, white and Negro, dancing along.

The band cut loose with "Panama Rag," "Joe's Boogie," "Didn't He Ramble." School children peeked from classroom windows. Customers in a beauty parlor ran out with pincurlers.

At Picou's funeral, a grand marshal set the pace for the Eureka band—one of two bands that played to the graveyard.

The band played such hymns as "Nearer My God to Thee" and "What a Friend We Have In Jesus." But it was not church music. It was as if the blues had entered the music and taken over.

U. S. WILL SUE ELECTRIC FIRMS FOR MILLIONS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has made it official—the government will seek millions of dollars in damages from electrical equipment firms that pleaded guilty to rigging bids on government contracts.

Editorial Comment

This Deserves Approval

Probably only a relatively small share of the American people realize that the country is voting, in slow stages, whether or not to allow the long disenfranchised citizens of the District of Columbia to vote for president and vice president in future national elections.

The proposal is in the form of an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which of course had first to be approved by the Congress. It cleared that hurdle and is now, according to the law, going the rounds of the 50 state legislatures.

To become the law it must win approval of three-fourths of the states, which in the present instance means 38 of the 50. So far it has been endorsed by five and rejected by just one, Arkansas. That leaves 33 to go, with a good many states scheduling action in their early 1961 sessions.

The chances seem to be strong that presidential voting for the District will gain the necessary national support, though inevitably it will take time to get the needed state action.

Most Americans, were they to attend to the matter, likely would find sense in the argument that the old bars against D.C. voting are no longer valid.

The original idea was that since most citizens of the District would be employees of the federal government, they would be predisposed always to vote to retain the party in power.

Time and events have outmoded this notion. A high percentage of the government's employees living in the District are civil service workers unaffected by changes of regime.

More important even than this, Washington's growth has meant that each year a higher and higher proportion of federal workers are finding places to live in the city's suburbs beyond the District. There they are quite free to vote not only in national but in state and local elections.

The net effect of the present bar, therefore, would seem to be to disenfranchise only part of the federal working establishment and by that fact to discriminate against it.

Common sense and fair play suggest there should be an early end to a situation not at all envisioned by the Constitution's framers when they imposed the original ban on District of Columbia voting.

Mary Anne Outlasts Baby Sitter In Marathon To Fight Off Sleep

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"How can I get my child to go asleep?"

Millions of parents have raised this cry. In some neighborhoods—where there are a lot of kids—this can be a bigger problem than the mortgages.

But what grownup cannot defeat a child if he puts his mind to it?

It is really very simple. You want the child to go to sleep at a certain time, but it decides it doesn't want to.

Let us assume that you and your wife are going out for the evening. You have a daughter named Mary Anne, aged below 10, and a teen-age baby sitter named Gloria. She has been hired to subdue her.

The whole idea is that Gloria is to get Mary Anne in bed by 8:30 p.m. "at the very latest." Naturally, your wife is aware of the problem early in the day. And she attacks it early. She wakes your wife to pay off Gloria, and you take her home, and when you return there is your daughter saying, "I'm hungry."

You feed her, and she coaxes, "Please, can't I just this once stay up and see the rest of the movie? It's Friday."

"Sure," you tell her. "Stay up as long as you want to. But your mommy and I are going to sleep now."

If you carry out this threat, within five moments there is a plaintive cry, "I'm sleepy. I want to go to bed."

Children are great parent helpers. And they are quick to follow the sheep of their choice to the pastures of drowsiness.

It is really very simple. If parents want a child to go to sleep, all they have to do is to go to sleep first.

The child will follow without trouble.

Manners Make Friends

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer HONOLULU (AP) — Police detective by day, night club star by night—that's the strange double life of Sterling Mossman.

This may sound like something out of a TV series, but it's for real. Mossman is a husky six-footer whose easy charm has made him the hottest name on the Waikiki entertainment scene. But the Mossman charm can be supplanted by toughness, as many a skip artist and con man can attest.

Mossman works nightly at the Barefoot Bar of the Queen's Surf. I dropped out to catch his act and found the lobby jammed with patrons waiting to get inside. The bar, former bedroom of a millionaire's mansion, was packed with people sitting around tables the size of coasters.

The lights dimmed. Playing on the bandstand was a combo of three Hawaiian men and one wacky Waikiki girl. They were joined by Mossman, good-looking, thirtyish with a deceptively dignified manner. He played guitar, sang, told a hilarious history of Hawaii and clowned for an hour and a half to the delight of the audience.

Afterwards, he sat down and police wanted to converse with him.

"Then what would I do with my days?" he grinned. He is up for retirement in October and will stick it out until then.

Despite the divergence, Mossman finds the two careers blend nicely. He has spotted in the night club many characters in the size of coasters.

Entertaining pays him three or more times what policing does. So why doesn't he turn in his badge?

Faculty To Present Eliot's 'Cocktail Party' At 'Mac'

The MacMurray College Theater will present a Reader's Theater production of T. S. Eliot's "Cocktail Party" this Friday and Saturday evening in the theater building at 8:00.

A highly symbolic religious drama, the contemporary play addresses the problem of man's aloneness and his inability to communicate with his fellows. Dr. Ray E. Holcombe, director of the play and head of the MacMurray speech and drama department, spent part of last year on sabbatical leave for a concentrated study of religious drama.

The all-faculty cast includes Mrs. Louisa Strong, Dean of Women; Charles Alcorn, instructor of psychology; Miss Ellen Wilmartin, instructor of modern languages; James Conover, instructor of speech and theater; James Meikle, instructor of speech and theater; Mrs. James Meikle, part-time instructor of speech and Dr. Holcombe.

The drama is the second Readers' Theater presentation by the MacMurray Theater. "Don Juan in Hell" having been very successfully presented two years ago. In Reader's Theater there is no scenery, no props, and minimal lighting effects, though the actors do make entrances and exits. The effect is to direct the entire attention of the audience on the cast's interpretation of the author's work.

T. S. Eliot is probably the greatest living English playwright-poet and is one of the few modern poets who have succeeded in having their plays highly successful in actual production. Some of Eliot's other most well known plays are "Family Reunion," "The Statesman" and "Murder in the Cathedral" which was produced by the MacMurray Theater three years ago.

Tickets are available in advance from the theater or at the door at 8:00.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — (Special) — Congressman Paul Findley was today appointed a member of the House committee on agriculture subject to approval of the House of Representatives. He had requested the appointment and was exceeding happy that his wish was granted. Mr. Findley said, "The 20th District is predominantly agricultural and membership on this committee should enable me to serve the district in the best way possible."

For many years Findley has been closely associated with agriculture and particularly since becoming editor of the Pike County Republican 15 years ago. He is a member of the Farm Bureau and is greatly interested in conservation. The new congressman has a keen interest in the welfare of farmers.

During the election campaign he proposed a plan to quickly and sensibly empty warehouses of price depressing grain surpluses. That plan is now being written into legal form and will soon be presented to Congress. It appears that Findley will be the only Illinois congressman on this committee and he will rank eleventh of the 14 Republicans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret Stitt Church and Robert B. Chipfield of Illinois have been assigned by the Republicans to the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Nine GOP representatives were named to the committee.

The Republican assignments were announced by the House Republican Committee on Committees and were approved Thursday by GOP members of the House. They are subject to final House action next week. House approval is virtually assured.

House Democrats announced their committee assignments previously, as did Senate Democrats and Republicans.

Here are the committee assignments of other Illinois Republicans:

John B. Anderson, House Administration, Government Operations; Leslie C. Arends, Armed Services; Harold R. Collier, Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Edward J. PROMISE

The Saxons had a word for Spring. It was Lenten, shortened, in time, to Lent.

So the name Lent was given to that springtime period of 40 fast days from Ash Wednesday until Easter.

Lent came to mean a time of penitence. And it is. But it is also a time of preparation, and of promise. For because Lent means Spring, it heralds good things to come. It forecasts the glorious message of Easter. It is the dawn of the most beautiful season of the year.

The bare branches of these trees will burst into bud and leaf with the touch of Spring. Our thoughts during Lent, our personal preparations, also will reach fruition when the 40 days are through.

Lent is the time for prayer and self-examination. Make this Lenten season really mean something by seeking help and guidance at your church services.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Illini Face Another Crucial Road Game At Purdue Saturday Night

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — University of Illinois basketball team has another "crucial" road game at Purdue Saturday night, while the Illini track, wrestling, and swimming squads will compete in a daylong quadrangular meet in Huff Gym. Oklahoma State, an NCAA title threat and 22-7 victor over Oklahoma's defending national champs, joins Big Ten contenders Illinois, Purdue, and Michigan State. The four teams have a combined 22-4 dual meet record this year.

Winners of five of the last six tilts, the Illinois cagers could move into third place, or even second, in the Big Ten with a victory over the Boilermakers. In Big Ten scoring and rebounding, the Illini now are second only to Ohio State.

David Downey is tops in season scoring (14.8 per game) and rebounding (170 in 16 games). Junior Jerry Colangelo continues to lead shooters with a solid .500 from the field.

Sophomore guard Bill Small, who suffered a severe sprain on his left wrist, still may not be ready to go Saturday. Junior Jerry Curless probably will start. At present, Combes now regards sophomore Jerry Renner as his first substitute after loss of Ed.

He may face Illini sophomore Jim Spreitler at 100 yards in what could be a great race.

Mauch Says Phillies Will Win More In '61

By GENE MAUCH
Philadelphia Phillies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — I'm not usually out on a limb. But I will predict one thing right here and now: The Phillies will win more games than the 59 they won last season.

One of the things going for us will be added experience, my own and the team's. Last year, I did not take over the club until the first week of the season, so I missed valuable time getting to know the strength and weaknesses of the players. Now, I've got the entire spring training period to look forward to and will try to have all positions reasonably set by the time the season opens.

We had about 10 first-year players in 1960. They included Pancho Hergers, Jim Coker, Chris Short, Art Mahaffey, Dallas Green and Tony Gonzalez. With that one season under their belts, I'm looking for them and the others to show marked improvement.

In the cases of Herrera and Mahaffey there is not too much room for improvement. Pancho was one of the outstanding rookies in the National League and gave us the long ball. Mahaffey won seven games and lost only three after coming up from the International League in August.

One of our major troubles last season was losing so many close games. There's nothing so frustrating as being beaten by a 1-0 or 2-1 score. We've got some fast young men like John Callison, Gonzalez and Bobby Gene Smith in the outfield and Tony Taylor and Ruben Amaro in the infield.

And I'm going to put this speed to good use.

We got big Frank Sullivan from Boston to help our pitching staff and I believe that he will. Robbie Roberts lost some tough ball games last year and with some solid batting support he could come back to have one of his better years.

MAYS SIGNS FOR $85,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Giant field star Willie Mays—highest paid player in baseball—has signed his 1961 contract for $85,000, the same salary he received last season.

The San Francisco Giant office said the contract was received by mail Thursday from New Rochelle, N.Y.

A spokesman said: "He is receiving the same as last year... no raise and no cut... he signed the first contract sent him."

Willie, at 30 the oldest Giant from the standpoint of active service with the club, will be playing his tenth season.

American League Launches 60th Season April 10

BOSTON (AP) — The new-look American League will open its expanded schedule April 10 with "firsts" aplenty but lacking two of baseball's most dominant personalities.

Casey Stengel and Ted Williams will be among the missing when the league opens its 6th season with Chicago at Washington in the traditional curtain-raiser at Griffith Stadium.

Conditions permitting, President Kennedy will throw out the first pitch for the first time keynoting the start of the program.

The circuit, expanded to 10 teams, has new franchises in Los Angeles and Washington. The former Washington franchise has shifted to Minnesota's twin cities, Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The schedule, announced Thursday by League President Joe Cronin, calls for 162 games instead of the traditional 154—necessary because of the greater number of teams—and lists the first regularly scheduled twin-night double-headers.

Previously, twin-night twin bills were allowed only as make up games postponed.

Detroit and Los Angeles took the maximum three twin-night double-headers, Boston and Chicago go scheduled none.

The schedule lists 376 single night games ranging from 55 at Kansas City and 54 at Los Angeles down to 22 each at Boston and Detroit.

Illini Banking On Pair Of Fine Vaulters

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A pair of promising newcomers, Chapman's Terry Harshbarger and Deerfield's Dave Rudolph, may be able to restore the pole vault as an event of power on Illinois' track mark.

Fine pole vaulters were the hallmark of Coach Leo Johnson's strong Illini teams of the late 1940's and early 1950's. Between 1947 and 1955, Illinois vaulters won or shared 11 Big Ten crowns. Bob Richards won indoor and outdoor conference titles in 1947. Don Laz, the first collegian ever to vault 15 feet, won three indoor and two outdoor titles during 1949-51. Dick Coleman won indoor and tied for outdoor championships in 1952. Dale Foster tied for the outdoor title in 1954, and won the indoor top spot in 1955.

Since 1956, Illinois have had no serious threats to the pole vault championships. With the 1961 pole vault event likely to be a wide-open battle, Johnson is hopeful that either Harshbarger or Rudolph can challenge for the vaulting crown.

Rudolph, a transfer from Iowa State, tied for first in the 1957 Illinois state high school track meet at 12-2. He competed in the Illinois Open Meet last year and cleared 13-0, and Johnson expects him to become a consistent 13-foot vault this year. Rudolph is a well-built 6-0, 185-pound junior. He attended Highland Park High School.

Harshbarger also is expected to become a 13-foot vaulter. He tied for second at 12-4 in the 1959 state track meet. Terry is a sophomore, stands 5-9, and weighs 165 pounds.

2 Peoria Attorneys File $750 Million Suit Against GE

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Two attorneys filed suit today asking damages of $750 million from General Electric Co., alleging injury to 50 million consumers as a result of price-fixing.

The U.S. District Court action was filed by Jack A. Brunnenmeyer and Harry Sonnemaker Jr., Peoria lawyers, on behalf of J. Orion Brunk, a Peoria publisher, Mrs. Mary Brown, a Peoria housewife, and all other persons similarly situated.

The suit stated that Brunk and Mrs. Brown had purchased products of GE.

The complaint asserted that the plaintiffs had suffered financial injury as a result of rigged prices and asked triple damages.

It estimated that 50 million persons in the United States had made similar purchases of GE products and suffered similar damages.

In New York, the General Electric Co. issued a statement terminating the Peoria suit "fantastic."

Budget Headed For Billion Dollar Deficit: Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said Thursday the federal budget seems headed for a billion-dollar deficit this year, partly because of the recession.

He also told a news conference that a temporary tax cut might be in order if the economy still points steeply downward by April.

Dillon said federal revenues are running behind the estimates which former President Dwight D. Eisenhower submitted to Congress last month whereas spending on programs initiated by Eisenhower is exceeding earlier predictions.

The secretary said the deficit, on the basis of Eisenhower programs, would probably amount to about $750 million for the fiscal year ending June 30.

In addition, he estimated that about $250 million would be added to this deficit if Congress approves President Kennedy's proposal to extend unemployment benefits.

Dillon's suggestion that a tax cut might be considered in April was a follow-up to President Kennedy's statement Wednesday that a new look would be taken at the economy then.

GE consumer products mentioned in the suit, it said, were not connected in any way with the recent anti-trust action.

"This is one of a rash of claims," it said, "arising out of the publicity connected with the electrical anti-trust suits, many of which in our judgment can only be regarded as preposterous."

The $750 million damages, Brunnenmeyer said, was an estimate.

Brunnenmeyer said the suit "is in the nature of a class action."

He said that under normal court procedure the defendant company would ask that the names of all plaintiffs and the details of their purchases of GE products be specified.

Then, he said, he plans to ask the court to subpoena records of the company for use in obtaining customers' names and in tracing their purchases.

The suit was an offshoot of the recent conviction in Philadelphia of General Electric, Westinghouse and other top electrical manufacturing firms in a government anti-trust action.

The Philadelphia case involved rigging of bids for electrical supply business of government agencies and private concerns.

The Peoria suit affects retail purchases, principally of appliances.

Brunnenmeyer said the allegation of damages to retail customers of GE is based upon the company's confession of actions in violation of the anti-trust laws during 1960. He said the contention of the Peoria suit is that substantial violation had an effect upon retail prices for the firm's products.

Seven officials of firms in the Philadelphia case were sentenced to jail terms Tuesday and fines levied against 29 companies and 16 officials totaled more than two million dollars.

Former Senator Millard Tydings Dies In Sleep

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings of Maryland died in his sleep Thursday night at his 550-acre farm near here. He was 70.

Tydings was an American political giant for 26 years.

He was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1926 after a two-year political incubation in the House.

He was ousted by Republican John Marshall Butler in the bitter 1930 senatorial campaign which a Senate investigating subcommittee characterized as a "despicable back street" type."

Six years later, Tydings challenged Butler for re-election. But his come-back campaign was scuttled by a microscopic bug, a virus which causes the illness commonly called shingles.

In almost constant pain from the illness which affects the nerve endings, the ex-senator withdrew from the campaign one month before the general election. The illness wore away in the months after the election and Tydings was able to resume the practice of law.

He said that under normal court procedure the defendant company would ask that the names of all plaintiffs and the details of their purchases of GE products be specified.

Then, he said, he plans to ask the court to subpoena records of the company for use in obtaining customers' names and in tracing their purchases.

X15 Sets New Speed Record

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The rocket ship X15 set a new unofficial world speed mark of 2,275 miles per hour in a flight Tuesday, the National Space Agency said Wednesday.

The flight by Air Force pilot Bob White was announced at the time as 2,112 m.p.h. but was upped after data were analyzed.

The world mark of 2,196 m.p.h. was established last Aug. 4 by Joe Walker of the space agency.

Purpose of White's flight was not to set a record, but to give a high speed test to a new "hot nose" for the X15. Designed to replace the needlelike nose used in early flights, it is loaded with instruments to help the pilot re-enter the atmosphere after trips to the edge of space.

BUY'S CHESTER FIRM

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Martha White Mills, Inc., one of the south's largest milling firms, has purchased control of Gilster Milling Co. of Chester, Ill., the Martha White firm said Wednesday.

The transaction involved the purchase of 69 per cent of Gilster stock from A. L. Gilster and his family. Gilster is firm president. The price was not announced.

conditions overcrowded but said they have not affected rehabilitation in the institutions.

The last time the mark reached 5,000 was May 29, 1943. Pate said. The lowest postwar figure was 3,500, he added.

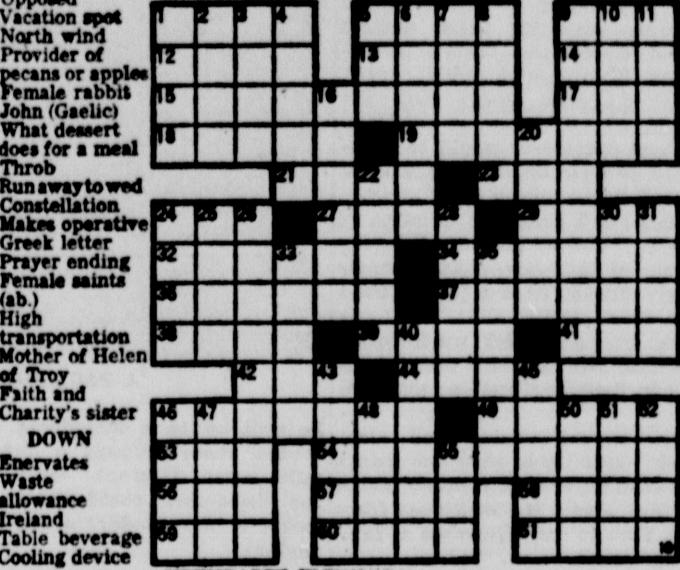

Earlier this week, Pate's predecessor, Joseph Ragen, now Illinois public safety director, said he plans to confer with Gov. Otto Kerner on a $5 million appropriation for construction of a prison in Johnson County. The minimum security institution is needed, Ragen said, because most of the trouble caused by prisoners arises from lack of space.

Engineers Have Been Working On The Automated Railroad—

Riding The Rails To Trains Of Tomorrow

By RAY CROMLEY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON—NEA) — Railways design engineers dream of ways to rocket the nation's ailing railroads into automation by using the scientific gadgets developed for space travel.

Their fondest dream is a completely push-button railway. Some day, these planners say, "decision-making electronic brains" would be located in small turret-like structures along the track. Radio impulses sent by these devices would direct the train's movements. They would switch, start, speed up, slow down, stop the trains.

These operations would be monitored by train dispatchers in their control towers many miles away.

This won't come for decades, of course, if ever does. By the very nature of railroads, change comes slowly, usually on one private road at a time.

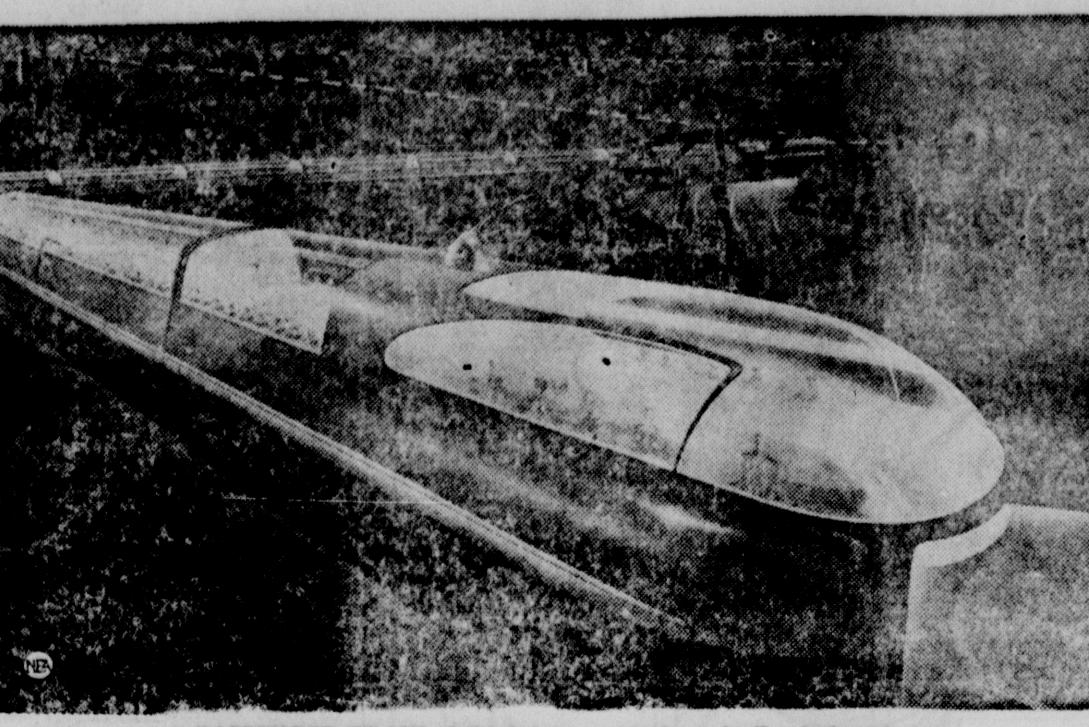

But here's a quick rundown on the ideas the planners are discussing in their conference rooms today.

Split-second timing and electronic planning to clear the tracks and send super-fast railroad trains hurtling across the continent from New York to San Francisco at fantastic speeds.

Photo-electric eyes for train doors and rail platforms to automate the loading and unloading of passenger trains.

Electronic reservations and the issuing of tickets automatically by electronics. When this plan goes through, you'll be able to phone in for a reservation; buy your ticket, have it charged to your telephone number—all by electronic gadgetry.

Almost complete long-distance supervision of trains. Radar and TV on the front of locomotives would give information not only to the engineer and crew; it would be sent on to a dispatcher in a control room perhaps a hundred miles away. It would mean that the dispatcher could continually look over the shoulder of the train engineer.

Radio telephones in all trains, so that the dispatchers can keep in constant communication with the train, the engineer in constant contact with the crew.

Train crews will communicate with wayside stations by radio and micro-wave systems. Crews will be kept informed instantly on the latest weather and track conditions ahead.

All-glass cars so that passengers can see out in every direction. A reverse-mirror process built into the glass will prevent people outside from looking in. The glass will be tinted to shut out the sun's glare. At night, the glass will be lit up with a variety of colors "to bring relaxation."

The glass will be insulated to shut out noise and dust. "Stabilizers" and "centrifugal neutralizers" will counteract jolts and sharp curves.

A taped high-fidelity system to bring all passengers the latest news and weather.

All-purpose electronically-controlled machines, each operated by one man, which would gather up track into one end as the machines moved along, and emit entirely new track at the other—rail crossings, rock ballast and all—laid in place and ready to use.

Automatic freight yards which would speed the "breaking up" and assembling of trains. Here's how a railroader describes the operation:

"A freight train will enter the yard after a fast trip between cities.

A locomotive remotely controlled from a high tower will push the cars up a raised section of track called a 'hump.' Each car will be weighed, inspected, oiled, recorded and uncoupled automatically before it reaches the hump's crest.

From there, the cars will coast downhill to 'classification' tracks fanning out below like branches from the trunk of a tree. A tape containing information on each car will be fed into an electronic brain, which in turn will activate devices to guide the car onto its proper track. Its speed will be controlled by automatic 'retarders.'

Radar eyes will check its progress. Switches will be set ahead of the car automatically.

"Then, when enough cars for a single destination are assembled, a remote-controlled locomotive will collect them—and a new train will be born." In some cases this will mean one man will do the work of a hundred.

Legion Auxiliary At Waverly Plans Memorial Gift

WAVERLY — The February meeting of the Waverly American Legion Auxiliary Unit was held in the Post Home with 21 attending. Preceding the meeting the ways and means committee met with the chairman, Agnes Herford to make plans for serving a supper Feb. 25th.

The president, Ruth Ann Stewart, presided and routine business was conducted. Jean Watts, Lowery were named to serve on the finance committee of the Junior Auxiliary chairman, reported on the group's previous meeting and the making of 68 tray favors for veterans at the Jacksonville State Hospital and also of the bake sale sponsored by the Junior organization.

Wilma Bateman was named to contact the city librarian in regard to purchasing a book to be placed in the library in memory of the late Irene Bridges, member of the Auxiliary.

With Americanism as the theme for the month, the meeting concluded with the showing of the film, "America the Beautiful." Refreshments were served to conclude the evening.

CHARGE BUILDING FIRM VIOLATED ANTITRUST LAWS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission has charged American-Marietta Co., a Chicago building materials firm, with violating antitrust laws by buying up 49 corporations in the past eight years.

The FTC complaint Thursday said American-Marietta, by acquiring other firms from coast to coast, had tended substantially to lessen competition or create a monopoly in the production and sale of concrete pipe, cement, sand, gravel, lime and crushed stone.

In Chicago, the firm's president, Robert E. Pfleiderer, said his legal counsel is confident no laws have been broken.

The FTC has the power to order merger law violators to sell firms they have acquired. American-Marietta is one of the 200 largest industrial companies in the nation, with annual sales of more than $300 million.

URF PAYS FIRST INSTALLMENT IN RECOUNT SUIT

CHICAGO (AP)—A first installment of $10,742 has been paid by the United Republican Fund of Illinois in the recount suit filed by Benjamin S. Adamowski, former state's attorney of Cook County.

The payment, accepted Thursday by Circuit Judge Cornelius Harrington, covers the first 12 days' salaries of 40 election board clerks and costs of transporting ballots and printing tally sheets.

Harrington held that Adamowski's backers must produce another $9,000 for clerk salaries March 1. The recount is expected to take about 25 days.

Adamowski, Republican incumbent in the Nov. 8 election, was declared defeated by Democrat Daniel P. Ward by 26,000 votes.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—April seems to be the magic month in both government and business planning.

Both hope by them to have an idea how serious is the threat of a general recession. Both agree, at least privately, that it's hard to tell today.

Here's why April is the month they're choosing.

Many industries—particularly the heavy goods ones—have privately well written off the January-February-March period as a slow one, at best. Most still say they expect the business roadblocks to melt when the snow does. The increasing army of the unemployed hope they're right—but for them the current outlook seems as unstable as the weather.

President Kennedy made it plain this week he'll wait until April for another look around to see if business conditions justify the stimulus of a tax cut that would put more spending money in consumer pockets—while holding money from the U.S. Treasury up against a threat of a deficit.

Federal lawmakers will study the economic outlook over the next few weeks in hearings before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress. The perennial proposals of tax cuts will be debated—but for individuals to spur spending, tax incentives for business to nudge investing in the new equipment.

Both would help the economy—but how soon and how effectively is debatable.

Every few days stock traders pop out like groundhogs to look around and decide an upturn in coming months is likely. Some think it will come from business revival on its own initiative. Others scent more inflation in the wind from spending proposals before Congress.

Current business statistics are mostly as depressing as expected. But there's always the spring. It brings outside jobs. It often perks up car sales. It inspires builders, especially in the colder regions of the nation. It turns summer thoughts toward Easter finery and spring outifts and summer home furnishings.

Administration steps already taken to spur the economy and those already asked of Congress seem unlikely to have much effect before April—those things take time.

Many business planners don't like to commit themselves further just now till the outlook is clearer. Earnings statements mostly aren't encouraging with little change expected for a while.

So they're eyeing April. But meantime urging their sales force to try hard in the next eight weeks just in case.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took a definite step lower in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press was down .80 at 233.70 with industrials down 1.40, rails down .20 and utilities down .30.

Most key stocks took losses running from fractions to a point or so, some清淡 about 2.

Volume was not up to Thursday's rate which was the biggest since September 1955.

Brokers said a considerable amount of profit taking was going on but that speculative interest was still so high that offerings were taken without much difficulty. An exception was the electrical equipment stocks, still besieged by sellers due to threatened suits resulting from the antitrust convictions.

Steels, motors, rails, oils, drugs, airlines, chemicals, copers, electronics, and utilities were among the losers. Tobaccos and rubbers were mixed.

The decline was accompanied by gloomy news of a sharp decline in auto assemblies and word that unemployment in mid-January was the worst since the early 1940s.

Westinghouse Electric fell 2% to 40% on a block of 57,000 shares, then trimmed the loss slightly in later dealings.

General Electric was still not trading in early afternoon, due to the accumulation of sell orders.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.32 at 641.80. Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

'Depressed Area'

Fear Under Surface Of Neat Little Town

Editor's Note—Muskegon, Mich., is a typical American small town, neat and tidy. But there is fear beneath the attractive exterior. It is a "depressed" area. Joblessness has been high, due to hard times in the automobile industry and a new blow was struck when a key industry decided to leave, taking 1,800 jobs. Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, who toured the depressed labor areas, tells of Muskegon's trials and tribulations in the following article, last of a series of two.

By NATE POLOWETZKY

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—(In a motel just near the heart of the city, a waitress stopped long enough to tell this story:

"My brother-in-law used to work for Continental Motors here—they make engines and things like that. He has been laid off since last July and he drew his last unemployment benefit check last week.

"His wife, my sister, was married before her husband died. She gets his Social Security checks now. That's the only thing she and her husband and family are living on. And there are six kids to support, besides bills and payments on their house."

Muskegon is a tidy community of neat one family houses, with a fine library and art gallery, magnificent beaches on Lakes Muskegon and Michigan.

It has a healthy, American small town look about it, with churches and synagogues side by side and a big park in the middle. But beneath its lovely exterior is a heartbeat and despair resulting from long, heavy unemployment and the prospect of even more to come. Muskegon and its sister communities combine in a "depressed" area.

The area is almost a classic example of a community's ill-fortunes resulting from dependence on a single industry—or two—for its economic well being.

In Muskegon's case, for many years, its men and women were dependent, generally speaking, on factories tightly connected with the automotive industry—foundries, piston firms, etc. In addition, the Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp., manufacturers of refrigerators and freezers, was a heavy employer.

The unemployment rate is a little over 12 per cent compared with the nationwide figure of about seven.

But the figures tell little of the human misery involved.

Reported a county relief official:

"We are carrying over 600 cases of direct relief, where the people involved have no income whatsoever. In fact, we have very few cases at all where we are supplementing income. And we are taking on from 8 to 10 new cases a day. We have about 100 cases we haven't been able to get to durable goods suffered and the car industry, now dispersed and automated, and making its own accessories, called for fewer and fewer parts from the Muskegon plants.

With the decline came deep human suffering.

Energetic city leaders have been successful in attracting new industries here in an effort to diversify—chemicals, paper and paper bag firms, the Brunswick Pin Setter factory, a small outdoor motor firm, a small aircraft assembling and distributing firm, among others.

But, as one county official admitted, "this has only been a drop in the bucket."

At the moment an estimated 7,100 persons are unemployed in Muskegon County (including some 2,000 women seeking jobs because their husbands are out of work). Many hundreds have exhausted their unemployment benefits.

The unemployment rate is a little over 12 per cent compared with the nationwide figure of about seven.

But the figures tell little of the human misery involved.

Reported a county relief official:

"We are carrying over 600 cases of direct relief, where the people involved have no income whatsoever. In fact, we have very few cases at all where we are supplementing income. And we are taking on from 8 to 10 new cases a day. We have about 100 cases we haven't been able to get to and most of these involve direct relief."

His figures showed that some 8,345 persons were receiving surplus food commodities while another 1,149 were eligible to do so. The number of welfare cases jumped from 1,676 in December to 1,977 in January—and the number will increase greatly because of the recent disaster.

The disaster was the news released on Feb. 1 that the Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. would move out of Muskegon to a spanking new plant at Fort Smith, Ark., eliminating some 1,800 jobs here, and costing the community an estimated $10-million payroll annually besides millions more in goods and services, property taxes, etc.

The decision, said the mayors of Muskegon and Muskegon Heights, "constitutes a tremendous blow to the economy of this community. The loss of 1,800 jobs here will be reflected in real human suffering and misery."

Weaver's second headache appears likely to arise in the legislative field.

Several Southerners said in the debate that they feared Weaver as head of HHFA might alienate Southern voters badly needed for controversial housing programs of the new administration.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., Senate Housing subcommittee chairman, said he had been advised that the margin for public housing legislation in the House now is only five votes, with many of the supporters being congressmen from Southern states.

Left open was the question of whether the fight on Weaver, hardest made against any Kennedy nominee so far, would slow down administration plans to convert HHFA into a full-scale executive department.

If this plan goes ahead and is approved by Congress, some senators assume Weaver will be named to head the department and thus would be the first Negro in the Cabinet. He would have to be confirmed again.

Eight Southern senators spoke against the nomination in the debate along with Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah.

Supporters largely confined themselves to statements that the New Yorker's long record in city, state, and federal housing agencies fully qualified him for the office.

3. To begin building greater political and economic unity in what they refer to as "the Atlantic community."

At the heart of this problem is a need for greater NATO military strength and greater singleness of purpose among the Western allies. The Atlantic community development is said to be basic to U. S. world policy, especially since Kennedy wants the wealthy allied nations to share the burden of expanded aid programs for Africa, Asia and Latin America. Those are expected to be the major areas of contest with the Soviets in the next few years.

2. To reinforce U. S. military might and restore U. S. prestige as leader of the non-Communist world, making it clear to the Soviet Union and Red China that a willingness to negotiate settlements of outstanding problems does not mean weakness on the part of this country.

3. To begin by bringing non-Communist nations, allied and neutral, into an integrated economic system, this objective involves domestic as well as foreign policy problems. Unemployment in the United States raises pressures for protective tariff measures, foreign aid cutbacks and other steps contrary to the administration's world aim.

One specific authority U. S. officials reportedly want from Congress is to make five-year foreign aid commitments. To date U. S. aid programs for the most part have been on a year-to-year basis. Officials also want authority to change programs from time to time as the situations change in recipient countries.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?

By Henry Farrell

Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Edna Stitt, the cleaning woman, is the maid for Miss Blanche and Jane Hudson, sisters that something is wrong between the two sisters. Jane, the former child star, hates Blanche, who is critical as a result of a car accident which "talk" says was engi-

XVII

With a certain wariness, Mrs. Stitt turned from closing the gate and started up the walk toward the service porch. As she entered the yard, she caught a glimpse of the dim, bunched figure lurking in the open doorway of the kitchen and guessed that Jane Hudson was waiting in there for her.

"Well," she said with guarded joviality, "all set to go, eh, bright and early?" For an answer Jane's hand shot forward, holding the apron out to her. "Here." Her voice was small with strain but determined. "You don't have to stay. We don't need you here any more."

Mrs. Stitt was too stunned for a moment even to speak. "I would have called you, but I didn't have your number."

"Now, wait just a minute, Miss Hudson—"

"You'll be paid for today, don't worry. We'll send you a check. Here—take your apron. And you better give me your key to the house."

Mrs. Stitt took the apron and thrust it composedly under her arm. "I don't have the key," she said blandly. "I just realized as I was coming up the hill just now—I left it behind today."

Jane regarded her uncertainly, blinking. "All right, then," she said finally, "you can put it in the mail when you get home." Stubbornly she stood her ground, waiting for Mrs. Stitt to turn away.

Mrs. Stitt, however, was not yet satisfied. "As long as I made all this way," she said, making her gaze level and hard. "I'd better see Miss Blanche before I go. If I'm fired, I'd like to have it straight from her. She's the one who hired me."

Jane's mouth drew down into a straight hard line. "She's still asleep."

"Then, I'll wait. I don't mind a bit."

"But I'm just leaving. I have to be down at the bank when it opens."

"You don't have to worry," Mrs. Stitt said thinly. "You can trust me here alone. I won't run off with anything."

Jane stepped back quickly from the porch, slammed the screen door and latched it. "You're fired. So you can go on again!"

Mrs. Stitt, for all of her righteous indignation, knew when she was defeated. With a broad shrug, she turned and started back down the walk.

She had just managed to get herself settled on the bench at the curb when she saw the gray coupe pull up at the corner. She looked just long enough to see that Jane was alone in the car.

Catching sight of the bus approaching from up the street, she got to her feet and straightened her coat. Forget it, she told herself, just forget it; nothing can be done.

Opening her bag to take out her fare, her eyes fell on the disputed key to the Hudson house. There it lay, just beside her notebook, its identification disc attached with a loop of bright red string. In the street, the bus eased in to the curb and snorted its doors open to let her inside. Inside the bus the driver leaned forward to peer out at her. "You getting on, lady?"

Mrs. Stitt glanced up and then, after another moment's hesitation, shook her head. "I'm sorry . . ."

The door snorted shut again, and the bus roared off, bullying its way back into traffic. In a pensive mood now, Mrs. Stitt turned and started back up the hill.

Condemned Killer Will Receive Grim Valentine

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — One of California's record number of 33 condemned killers now awaiting execution will get an official Valentine — notice of the date he is to die.

Valentine's Day, Feb. 14, was chosen Thursday by San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Frank B. Blum to set the execution date of Alexander Robillard XIV, one of seven men on San Quentin Prison's death row for killing policemen.

Today only one of the 33 condemned persons knows when he is to die — April 12. He is Ronald Ritter, 24, a life-long criminal who once begged for the gas chamber and later changed his mind.

Most of those in death row are awaiting decision of the California Supreme Court, which automatically reviews each capital case. Eight others once had dates with death, but their executions were stayed for further appeals.

The number awaiting the gas chamber is unprecedented in any state. It has revived pleas for abolition of the death sentence.

Urge Period Of Cooling Off In Missile Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate voices of both parties are urging a cooling off period for the missile gap controversy.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., Thursday said the dispute should "not be made a partisan matter." At the same time he accused the Eisenhower administration of "a calculated and deliberate effort to keep vital defense information from President Kennedy when he was campaigning for the White House."

Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky agreed defense is not a partisan matter. When it is fully appraised, he said, Kennedy "should tell the American people the actual situation."

"Wait until the facts are in," said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn.

Switch Engine Hits Automobile At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — Mrs. Edith Baker, 1010 West 7th St. reported to local police that her car, a 1959 model, was struck by a B. & O. switch engine at the 8th Street crossing at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday.

She and her children riding in the car were not injured, but the left front fender, left rear fender, door and chrome of the car were damaged. The car could be driven from the scene.

Mrs. Baker was traveling east on 8th Street when the accident occurred. No flagman is at the B. & O. railroad tracks, east of the Burlington tracks, which have a signal at the crossing.

Sheriff Perdun Directs Jersey Red Cross Drive

JERSEYVILLE — Sheriff Howard "Dick" Perdun has been appointed chairman of the Rural Fund Drive for the Jersey County Red Cross, according to an announcement made by the County Fund Drive Chairman, John Short.

Sheriff Perdun is selecting Township Chairmen and Chairwomen who, in turn, obtain volunteer workers for the annual fund drive in the rural area.

The Drive begins March 1 but a number of advance gifts are being sought to help get the campaign off to a good start.

The recent disasters will necessitate an increase in the demands on the Red Cross and it is anticipated that the County Fund goal will be increased accordingly.

Many volunteer solicitors will be needed to carry out the campaign and anyone willing and desiring to help with the drive is asked to call 457 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon during the week.

The slogan this year is "Good Things Do Happen When You Need Help."

Mrs. M. S. Zachary Dies Friday; Funeral Monday

Mrs. Herma Conklin Zachary, wife of the late Mitchell S. Zachary, died Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Ronald Lewis, 524 South Prairie street, following an extended illness.

Mrs. Zachary was born at Coopersville, Mich. Dec. 20, 1882, the daughter of Oscar F. and Esther Price Conklin. She was married at Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 6, 1906 to Mr. Zachary who preceded her in death in 1940. Also preceding Mrs. Zachary in death were two sons and two daughters, Rhoda, Oscar, Mitchell and Ethel Minnie Zachary. A sister also preceded the deceased in death, making her the last of the immediate family.
